

I would like to see the Local Number Portability (LNP) rule go into effect. This country is about freedom. I would like to have the freedom to choose different carriers without having the inconvenience of having to change my number and the hassle of telling everyone about it. It's bad enough that I have to do that when the area codes change or I where to move out of the area. Although most of the different cell/phone companies appose this, please consider it for the good of the consumer. Thank you.
